

Enemy Retreats As U. S. Tanks Lead Push Toward Manchuria

(By The Associated Press)
SEOUL—(P)—An American tank column blasted its way through a Red trap in a far North Korean mountain ravine today. Then it rolled northward in a blazing bid to reach the Manchurian border in four days.

Economist Free But Gets Fired

Michael Lee Loses $10,750 Job

WASHINGTON—(P)—Michael Lee is out from under commerce department loyalty suspicion and also out of his $10,750-a-year job. He resigned and was fired.

The 42-year-old economist announced yesterday that secretary of commerce Sawyer had cleared him of disloyalty charges—thereby reversing a department loyalty board finding two months ago—and that he had resigned, since "all doubts as to my loyalty have been removed."

The department later said that Sawyer cleared Lee but also had ordered that he be fired, under authority recently granted by congress for such dismissals "on grounds of security and the best interests of the United States."

Lee has been suspended since the loyalty board's finding against him Sept. 8. Sawyer's clearance order automatically rescinded the suspension and assured him of back pay—around $2,000. Lee's resignation stopped any further salary payments.

Sawyer's decision was the third in the commerce department on Lee's loyalty. The loyalty board itself cleared him Aug. 10, 1949. It handed down an adverse decision after reopening the case last May.

Negro Bandits Get $5,500 In Beer Store Robbery At Detroit

DETROIT—(P)—Three Negro bandits locked a man and a woman in a rest room today and robbed a beer store of $5,500.

One of the holdup victims was Harry Raskin, former boxer and widely-known Detroit trainer and handler of fighters. His brother, Michael, owns the store.

A clerk, Mrs. Duono Jackson, 41-year-old Negro, was forced to give the bandits $1,800 from the cash register and to open a safe from which they took another $3,700.

Robbers Ride Bikes

JACKSON—(P)—Two boys, 14 and 15 years old, told police they rode bicycles to and from the ten places they committed robbing in nearby Vandercook Lake and South Landis. Police said the boys burned $255 in face savings bonds and kept $173 in cash and inexpensive jewelry. The robberies occurred during the last three weeks. The boys have been turned over to juvenile court.

acting the fleeing remnants. This was about 23 miles south of the Manchurian frontier.

Guerrillas Slaughtered
The commander of the column said his force would reach the border early next week and it fired on from Manchuria—

"We will shoot hell out of them," elsewhere on the front.

The South Korean capital division claimed 3,000 to 4,000 yards forward on the extreme northeast sector.

U. S. Marines probed mountains around Changjin reservoir in the center of the peninsula.

Patrols of the U. S. 24th Division roamed unopposed more than six miles north of Pakchon in the northwest.

American troops hunting down guerrillas far behind the lines reported inflicting the biggest death toll of any battle action this week. More than 500 Reds were killed.

Red raiders retaliated by setting an entire town, Kapyong, ablaze. More than 8,000 villagers fled.

Stronghold Abolished
Along most of the front communists avoided any major engagement. But they were building up forces in the mountains. A spokesman estimated 100,000 Reds are available in the northwest—bring the recount machinery to perfection—thus reaching—Dec. 4 starting date for the recount.

In view of the fact that former Governor Harry F. Kelly and the Republican leadership already has announced they would seek the recount and on the presumption that the Democrats' plans also will be known by that date, Alger said the recount still might start Dec. 4 even if the official canvass were delayed a day or so.

Gov. Williams, winner by 1,152 votes over Kelly on the basis of an unofficial tabulation of official county canvasses, declined to say whether the Democrats would ask for a recount of the entire state ticket.

Alger said this hope was based on the assumption that the official canvass of the entire state ticket can be completed by Nov. 27—the earliest in many years.

However, reports from Wayne county suggested its canvass would not be completed before Nov. 27, and the state board appeared to need a day or so to complete its own check of the figures.

To date, all but 12 of the 83 counties have been completely canvassed, Alger said, but those remaining are largely the big ones.

When the canvass is completed and the official outcome of the Nov. 7 election officially determined by the state board then 48 hours must be allowed for the official filing of a recount petition, Alger explained.

Another 24 hours must be allowed for the opposite side to file a counter-petition covering any counties or offices not included in the original petition.

armies equipped with American artillery captured by Chinese communists from Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalists and now supplied by American-type shells manufactured in Red Manchuria.

War planes, striking out in front of the spearheading advance of the 17th Infantry regiment's tank column in the northeast, set ablaze the Red stronghold of Kapsan, the Tenth corps announced. Kapsan is the U. S. Seventh division's immediate objective.

Korean Reds abandoned good positions and pulled back from the advancing U. S. 7th division tank column to well prepared positions at Kapsan. Tanks were five miles from this mountain crossroads city, which is 15 miles south of the Manchurian frontier.

The tank column was slowed by harrying Red attacks, by mines which pimpled the road, and by blown bridges. The 17th regiment of the 7th division counted 262 enemy dead after beating back Red attacks.

Patrols of the 31st Infantry regiment fought off Red attacks on the slopes of towering Shaitu peak. This is the second highest mountain in Korea. Supplies had to be carried on foot to the mountain patrols.

Ionia Parolee Held In Holdup

Teacher Is Attacked; Companion Tied Up

MT. CLEMENS, Mich.—(P)—A warrant charging armed robbery to Jack M. Erskine, 26-year-old parolee from the Ionia State hospital for criminally insane, was issued here today in the holdup, beating and attempted rape of a 23-year-old school teacher.

The young woman, accosted while sitting in a car with her date, Pte. James Courtwright, 23, forced at gunpoint Sunday night to accompany an armed man who appeared from the darkness, his head partially covered by a blanket. Her companion was tied up and left.

Police chief Harry J. Hammond said both the teacher and Courtwright identified Erskine in a police lineup yesterday at Port Huron, where he was arrested and is being held pending transfer here.

Erskine, descendant of prominent Macomb county families, was paroled from the Ionia institution last July 1.

Erskine was sent to Ionia after his arrest for a sex attack on a Michigan state normal college co-ed at Ypsilanti in 1946. The co-ed was accosted while parked with a boy friend, who was made to witness the attack by a man holding a dagger and pistol.

In issuing the warrant charging Erskine with armed robbery, municipal judge Donald J. Parent said this did not preclude issuance of attempted rape or assault warrants later.

Gravediggers Strike
DETROIT—(P)—Seventy-five gravediggers of Local 75, cemetery, vault and casket workers (CIO), voted Thursday to strike against four cemeteries. No date was set. The issue in the dispute is overtime pay for Saturday work.

Newspaper Strike Ends In Pittsburgh
PITTSBURGH—(P)—An agreement to end Pittsburgh's six week long shutdown of its three daily newspapers was reached at 6:25 a. m., EST, today.

The agreement came after all night negotiating sessions with non-striking unions which had demanded back pay as the result of a mailers' strike which started Oct. 16 and ended last Tuesday.

The agreement with the non-striking unions provides that the backpay issue will be submitted to binding arbitration, a spokesman for the publishers said.

No details were disclosed but the publishers for the three papers—Post-Gazette, Sun-Telegraph and Press—said publication will be resumed tomorrow.

Unions Urge Tougher Taxes On Abnormal Profits In Business

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON—(P)—The AFL and the CIO called today for a tougher tax on abnormal business profits than that proposed by President Truman.

While supporting the administration's call for an excess profits tax, the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations said the levy should be stiff enough to bring it up to $7,000,000,000 a year in new revenue. The president had suggested $4,000,000,000.

The AFL asked for a tax to net "not less than $5 to $6 billion."

The CIO set its sights on "between $6 and $7 billion."

The AFL agreed with the president's proposed tax rate of 75 per cent on business profits which exceed a predetermined normal rate. But it suggested a tightening of the formula to broaden the tax base on the basis of invested capital.

The CIO urged that the excess profits tax rate be 85 per cent instead of 75 per cent as the administration proposed.

Both groups endorsed the suggestion of Secretary of the Treasury Snyder that the years 1946 through 1949 be used as a base from which to determine the amount of earnings that are excessive.

Both agreed with Mr. Truman that the tax should be retroactive to last July 1 and that small business should be given special consideration.

The views of the AFL and the CIO were outlined in statements prepared for the House ways and means committee, which hopes to have an excess profits tax bill ready for House action around Dec. 1 and is leaning strongly toward the president's plan.

Arthur A. Elder, AFL tax consultant, and Stanley Rutenberg, CIO research and education director, sponsored the statements.

Wires Downed In Peninsula By High Wind

Two Drown When Boat Is Swamped

(By The Associated Press)
Furious winds, ranging up to 50 miles an hour in spots, raked Michigan overnight and today, causing the deaths of at least two men.

Lawrence Kuse, 24, a boat livery operator, and his step-father, Otto Miller, 55, were drowned when high waves in the mouth of the Saginaw river capsized their boat late yesterday.

Kuse, of Bay City, and Miller, of Saginaw, were attempting to go to the aid of six duck hunters who had rented boats from Kuse and whom he believed in trouble because of the heavy windstorm.

Boats of Fred Lavery of Flint and the other hunters, however, were blown into shallow water and they escaped the storm unhurt.

Telephone poles were snapped and spow banked in high drifts in the Upper Peninsula. Damaging waves were kicked up on both Lake Michigan and Lake Superior. Pedestrians in downtown Detroit made headway with difficulty against almost flattening gusts.

Detroit Racket Ring Smashed

Raiding Party Nabs 25 For Felony

DETROIT—(P)—Police racket busters topped off more than a year's undercover investigation last night by smashing a gambling ring which did a reported $10,000,000 a year business.

Twenty-four men and women were held today on felony charges as a result of a sweeping series of raids.

Experts at police headquarters were busy examining stacks of evidence of alleged numbers games and football and baseball pools.

A big raiding party, headed by the police vice and special rackets squads, swept down on 21 homes and a bar between 6 p. m. and midnight.

Nearly 70 officers took part in the swiftly executed operation, one of the largest of its kind in this city's war on gambling.

Three men were identified by police as leaders of the combination.

Among them was Stanley Brynski, owner of a Detroit river boat sales agency who, police records showed, was fined $4,000 in Macomb county in 1948 as a numbers operator.

At the time Brynski was identified with the notorious Polish bank numbers syndicate. Operators of that bank paid a total of $100,000 in fines in Detroit and Macomb county.

Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke, Macomb county's one-man grand jury, assessed the $4,000 fine against Brynski.

Police estimated the new ring did twice the business of the Polish bank, which was credited with grossing $5,000,000 annually.

Snowstorm Isolates Houghton; Two More Deer Hunters Killed

(By The Associated Press)
The deer hunting death toll rose to four today (Friday) as far northern hunters were hit by high winds and a snowstorm.

Many hunters, discouraged by too warm weather at the opening and now a bad storm, were pulling up stakes for an early return home. There were no indications, however, that the storm was severe enough to isolate many deer camps, except possibly in the Keweenaw peninsula.

Driving Dangerous
The city of Houghton, Keweenaw peninsula center was knocked out of communications late Thursday, so no reports have come through.

The storm made driving conditions in the Upper Peninsula generally hazardous.

Two new hunting deaths were reported Thursday. Last year, 28 were killed.

In the woods near West Branch an unidentified hunter shot and fatally wounded 80-year-old John Gallaty.

Gallaty, being guided out of the woods after having lost his way, was shot in the abdomen. He died in Telford Memorial hospital at West Branch.

A companion, Douglas W. Hacker, 19, of Kawkawlin, evidently struck by the same bullet, was wounded in the arm and left side. The shot only creased him and he was not seriously hurt.

Quane Scheele, 16, of Rogers City, hunting in Presque Isle county, was shot and killed accidentally by his brother, Willard, 18. The bullet entered Duane's right shoulder and severed his spinal cord, police said.

Fairport Man Hurt
Two other deaths were reported, but they were not attributed directly to the hunt.

Lorraine Smith of Homer died of a heart attack while hunting near Newberry.

Kenneth Lloyd, 23, of Mt Morris, riding in the bed of a pickup truck driven by his father, Vick, was shot and killed when a gun on the seat beside the father discharged. The bullet went through the cab. Father and son were en route to hunt in Emmet county.

Planes Collide; 13 Airmen Die

Parachutes Save 10 At Tucson, Ariz.

TUCSON, Ariz.—(P)—A collision in flight of two giant planes engaged in the U. S. Air Forces newest refueling operation has ended in flaming death for 13 airmen.

Ten others parachuted to safety after the four motor craft smashed together yesterday afternoon 50 miles west of Tucson over the southern Arizona desert.

The planes, a B-29 tanker and B-50 bomber engaged in a routine refueling operation, erupted in flames and plunged to the ground five miles north of the Papago Indian village of Silakya on the Sells reservation. The tanker is believed to have exploded.

Some of the crew members jumped and may have reached the ground safely, but were apparently caught in a deluge of flaming gasoline that sprayed over the area.

Another airman, caught flat on the ground after making a successful jump, was crushed to death by a piece of falling wreckage.

Robert Moore, a reporter for the Tucson Arizona Daily Star who flew to the scene, reported there were indications all of the airmen attempted to get out of the flaming craft.

Their blackened and smashed bodies, most of them wearing programs of parachutes, were scattered over an area a half mile around the crash scene. Bits of flaming debris were found as far away as a mile.

Ferryboat Overturns; 94 Persons Drowned

BELOGRADE, Yugoslavia—(P)—The official news agency Tanjug announced last night that 94 persons were drowned Wednesday when a crowded ferryboat burst its cables and overturned in the Sava river.

Tanjung said so far only 17 bodies have been taken from the water. The disaster occurred near the village of Orasje where the river divides the Yugoslav Republics of Bosnia and Croatia.

Soviet Union May Cast 47th UN Veto Today

Delegates Cautious In Chinese Crisis

By STANLEY JOHNSON
NEW YORK—(P)—Russian threats vie with American promises today as the United Nations security council meets to debate the question of Chinese Communist intervention in the Korean war.

Russia's Jacob A. Malik charged last night that the U. S. was attacking China on land, on the sea and in the air. He threatened to cast the Soviet Union's 47th veto to prevent passage of a security council resolution demanding that Red China withdraw troops from Korea. Malik said the U. S.—not the Peiping Communist government—was the aggressor.

Watchful Waiting
U. S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross immediately countered these assertions by reading President Truman's statement stressing American friendship for the people of China and stating that the U. S. had no intention of invading that country.

City Will Ask General Bids On Water Plant

The Escanaba city council Thursday night accepted the recommendation of City Manager A. V. Aronson to place full responsibility for construction of the new water filtration plant in the hands of a general contractor.

Under this policy, the city will ask for general construction bids and any sub-contracts will be awarded by the general contractor.

City Manager Aronson said that this arrangement would probably mean lower cost to the city and that it would eliminate delays and buck-passing by the various sub-contractors.

Advertisements for bids for the general contract will be placed soon, probably next week, after a final decision is made by the city on the type of stone to be used for the exterior of the building, Aronson said.

Will Borrow $35,000

The council authorized the city manager to borrow $35,000 from local banks to meet the cost of alloy and street improvement work done under special assessments the past two seasons. The city manager reported that this money will be repaid later when assessments are paid by the property owners. By borrowing the money from the banks, special assessment bonds can be avoided, Aronson said. The bank loans will be repaid when special assessment revenues and other revenues are received next summer, thus avoiding a half year's interest.

The council authorized the Carnegie Library board to use $1200 in a city appropriation to meet increased library costs. Although the money has been appropriated in the city budget to the library board, it had been stipulated that the appropriation would not be spent if state library aid were received.

The library board informed the council that the full city appropriation is needed to meet increased library costs and to maintain high standards.

Insurance Changes

A request from H. E. Flath for permission to construct a gasoline station in the 1700 block of Ludington street was received by the council, but action was deferred to the next meeting.

Several changes in insurance coverage on city property were authorized by the council. They include: increase from $500 to $2000 on sewage plant digester covers, from $10,000 to $15,000 in the city recreation center, from $4,600 to $5,600 in contents of the city police headquarters, initial coverage of $5,000 on the new beachhouse and $18,000 on the contents, initial coverage of $27,000 on the new Delta Furniture company building owned by the city.

The council also authorized an increase in the city treasurer's surety bond from $13,000 to $25,000 to meet charter requirements. The council adopted a letter of commendation to C. Randolph Lukens, assistant to the city manager, who will leave Escanaba soon to accept a position as city manager of Fairborn, Ohio.

Traffic Chief Named By W-C

Kansas City Man Joins Airlines

Francis M. Higgins, president of Wisconsin Central Airlines, today announced the appointment of Frank N. Buttomer, Kansas City, as general traffic and sales manager for the airline.

Buttomer, who has been associated with Mid-Continent Airlines for the past seven years, first as Director of Research and more recently as Director of Economic Controls, will assume his new duties at Madison December 1.

Buttomer's appointment to head up sales and promotional activities is the first step of an intensified program of development in connection with the inauguration of service with 21-passenger DC-3 aircraft early next year, the airline president said.

A native of Kansas City, Buttomer is well known in aviation circles and is regarded as an authority on the air transportation needs of smaller communities. During his years with Mid-Continent Airlines as Director of Research and Director of Economic Controls, he was active in promoting air transportation in the territory now served by Wisconsin Central Airlines.

Before joining Mid-Continent Airlines in 1943, Buttomer served one year with Trans World Airlines in a similar capacity. Prior to that time, he was identified with the Kansas City Power and Light Co. in various capacities for a period of twelve years.

Wisconsin Central recently announced the purchase of six twin-engine Douglas aircraft which will replace the company's smaller Lockheed aircraft early next year. The airline operates under a temporary three-year certificate of convenience and necessity, now technically expired, and the new traffic official's first assignment will be to coordinate the company's efforts to make its franchise permanent.

Class Flees From Red High School

BREMEN, Germany — (AP)—An entire high school class which fled from East German communism has found a new home in the American-occupied city of Bremen. The 25 students and two teachers fled last July from Potsdam, in the Russian zone of Germany near Berlin. They said they fled to escape "the one-sided political instruction" forced on them in Potsdam.

Bremen authorities helped them resume their studies here. The students live in the homes of Germans who receive $7 monthly from the city government toward their care. Public donations provide them with clothing and pocket money.

State To Patrol Lake Superior

Wisconsin Acquires Fisheries Boat

MADISON, Wis.—The strongest commercial fisheries law enforcement program ever effected by the state conservation department is assured with the purchase of a second big patrol boat for the use of wardens in outlying waters.

The state's craft known as the "Barney Devine" has patrolled Green Bay and Lake Michigan for the inspection of the activities of the commercial netters for several years. A new boat has now been authorized also for Lake Superior waters. The conservation commission has asked for the approval of the bureau of fisheries and Gov. Rennebohm of the purchase of a $17,000 craft that will carry a five man crew from port to port on Lake Superior.

Warden Ben Waskow at Bayfield will be the captain of the Lake Superior boat, which will operate from the port at Bayfield.

Donald Ewers is the chief of the Lake Michigan patrol. The Lake Michigan-Green Bay boat makes its headquarters at Kewaupee, on the Lake Michigan shore.

The new patrol program will increase the costs of commercial fisheries supervision, which have been larger than the receipts from license fees imposed upon the commercial net operators. The department has proposed increases in the license fee schedule, and will probably repeat the request to the 1951 legislature.

It is also considering a revision of the charge system for some of the contract fishermen who fish inland waters for rough fish. It would impose a straight license fee plan upon the fishermen in

Herring Run Starts Here

Expected To Reach Its Peak Next Week

The herring run started in Bay de Noc and Green Bay waters last weekend and is expected to reach its peak next week.

The Annabelle, owned by Allan Jensen of the Coffey Fish company of Manistique, came in with 3,000 pounds yesterday to the W. J. Rogers Fish company dock at the Chemical Plant location. Similar catches are reported this week by the Jensen & Jensen Fish company.

Producers were getting three cents a pound for herring this week.

The major portion of the herring catch is going to the milk ranches in the Upper Peninsula and Wisconsin areas. The large herrings are being shipped to the fresh fish market in New York City.

The W. J. Rogers Fish company intends to freeze 50 tons of herring this season at Iron Mountain. Freezing plants at Menominee and Green Bay also are anticipating heavy receipts.

Herring fishing will continue here until the freeze-up. Commercial fishermen are looking forward to the resumption of whitefish fishing, which is closed from Nov. 5 to Dec. 10. Fishing for walleyes also will be resumed in the near future.

Atlas Plywood Sawmill Opens

NEWBERRY—The Atlas Plywood sawmill started operating for the first time last week and is employing 14 men.

The hemlock logs of average woods run are being transported to Newberry on trucks from the Northwest Veneer and Plywood Camp north and east of Newberry. The lumber will be used for crating, mostly refrigerator cases.

The new mill here will handle 20,000 board feet of lumber or better a day, said Leon Guilmette, manager.

Newton Ford is the foreman at the mill.

Upper Peninsula Mink Farms Start Pelting

Delta county and other Upper Peninsula mink ranchers began pelting operations this week in a joyous mood in anticipation of substantial increases in fur prices.

Good grade pelts should bring 25 to 30 per cent more this year, said one optimistic rancher. Some New York buyers have already arrived here and are making the rounds of mink farms to contract for the purchase of pelts. When the buyers are out in the field in advance of the pelting season it is taken as a sign that the market will be good.

The average price paid last year for black mink pelts was $14, with the quotations ranging from $9 for the poorest grades to $22 for the better grades.

A good demand for pastels is expected this year. Last year, the price averaged $40. Platinums were $19 to $20. Early indications are that prices for black will approach those paid for platinums, but both will command better prices than were paid last year.

About 15,000 mink pelts were harvested on Delta county fur farms last year. Silver fox ranching has gone into oblivion in this area due to the extremely poor demand for long-haired furs. The Nieman infests last year closed out their huge fox ranch operations at Hermansville.

Cold Delays Ore Shipping

14 Boats Scheduled Here To Nov. 30

Although the higher temperatures have permitted the closing of the C&NW railroad's ore steaming plant, hot water continues to be used in loosening the ore in the cars at the dock and loading has been slowed by the additional operations.

Lee McMillan, dock agent, said that two vessels are now being loaded at the docks here and three others are scheduled to arrive today.

At the dock are the Haggerty and the Sullivan Brothers, and due today are the Joseph Block, Caulkins and G. R. Fink.

Eleven other boats are scheduled to come to Escanaba for one after today and before the end of the month, McMillan reported.

It is possible that additional boats will load here in early December because of the need for ore but that will depend to a large extent upon weather conditions. If the weather is favorable for shipping the season may continue until mid-December.

Nine Motorists Are Fined Here

Nine Delta county motorists this week have been assessed fines in justice court for violating traffic rules.

Gordon M. Haddy of Rockford, Ill., was fined $3 for failure to yield right of way, following an accident at 4:16 p. m., Thursday when his car and a car driven by Joseph Sarasin, 623 South 19th street collided at South 11th street and Fifth avenue. Both cars were damaged, the front end of Sarasin's and the right rear of Haddy's.

In other traffic cases Joseph Pinar of Wells paid $2 for not having an operator's license and failure to stop at an arterial; Sam R. Zeppia of 1403 Washington avenue was fined $5 for speeding; Lowell Steff of Cornell was fined $3 for not having his car under control; Charles Irving of Escanaba, Route One, paid $2 for having faulty brakes; Neil J. Bougie of 1119 First avenue north paid $1 for non-stop at an arterial; Thomas E. Pack of Perronville paid $2 for non-stop at an arterial; James R. Dwyer of 308 North 16th street paid $2 for failure to have an operator's license, and Sam Saykly of 1835 North Third avenue paid $1 for making a U turn.

Deer Hunting Hits And Misses

David Buckley, 424 South 18th street, brought down a 9-point, 185 pound buck near Brampton Thursday morning at 8:30.

A 185-pound sporting a 10-point rack was the prize buck brought down at 9 yesterday morning by Maurice Pratt, 1223 Sheridan Road, Escanaba, who was hunting with his brother Everett in the Buckeye slushings about 15 miles north of Rapid River. "One shot through the shoulder did the trick," Maurice said. "The buck was just coming out of a swamp."

Hunting at Wolverine Lodge at Northland are Herb Holderman, Art Anderson, Sr., Art Anderson, Jr., E. P. Johnson, Alec Cuchon, Robert Boucher and Rev. Karl J. Hammar.

Elmer Turnquist of Bark River, while hunting three or four miles south of his home on the opening morning of the season, brought down a spike horn buck at 10 o'clock.

A ten-point buck weighing 190 pounds was bagged Thursday morning at 9 o'clock by Andrew Lindquist of 223 North 18th street. Lindquist was hunting in the Northland area.

Joe Fudala, South Ford River, got his buck, at 10-point, 225 pounder, at 8 a. m. the opening day of season.

Lower Michigan hunters spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fudala are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walschleger and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Walschleger of Port Huron.

Jack Coyne of 941 Washington avenue bagged a 150 pound six pointer on opening day in the Stonington area.

Art Mills of Muskegon, hunting with Swede Bergklint of Hesperia, Mich., brought down a 4-point buck Thursday while hunting in the Ogontz district. The two men are hunting from the Birch Creek cabins.

Add to successful opening day hunters, Elmer Johnson of Danforth. He filled his license with a 6-point, 150 pound buck in the Danforth district.

Leo Lancour of 1407 Lake Shore drive was the first in a party of six hunting at LaBranche to bag his buck. He shot a 10-point deer Thursday morning. With him are Joseph Gregorie, Jesse Gou-

Str. Lebanon Free Of Shoal; May Load Here

The Str. Lebanon of the Bethlehem Transportation Corp. today was inspected at Escanaba and found to be so slightly damaged from grounding Thursday morning on Gull Island shoal that she will be able to take on a cargo of iron ore.

Whether she will load at Escanaba or Marquette has not yet been determined, said Capt. Edward J. McGarry.

Dave Trehore of Manitowoc, American Bureau of Shipping inspector, described the damage to the 358-foot Lebanon as "very slight."

Bad Weather Cause

A shift of wind yesterday afternoon helped the 7,000-ton Lebanon free herself from the sand and gravel shoal in St. Martin's island passage at 2:35 o'clock in the afternoon. She had been aground about 12 hours.

"Bad weather" was ascribed by Capt. McGarry as the cause of the grounding about 3 a. m. yesterday morning as the Lebanon was leaving Green Bay through the narrow passage into Lake Michigan.

The Lebanon cleared from Escanaba at 1 a. m. yesterday after unloading a cargo of coal at the Reiss company dock. She had been scheduled to load a cargo of ore at the C&NW docks here but because of delays due to frozen ore was ordered to Marquette to load.

Escorted by Cutter

After freeing herself from the shoal the Lebanon was escorted to Escanaba harbor by the Coast Guard cutter Woodbine, arriving here shortly before 6 o'clock last night. The Woodbine left this morning to return to her base at Grand Haven.

Other Coast Guard vessels, the cutters Sundew and Hollyhock and the icebreaker Mackinaw, also speeding toward the grounded vessel, were notified by radio from the Plum Island Coast Guard station that their services would not be required.

The Lebanon grounded during a 45-mile wind and thick weather. Because the shoal was not rocky the bottom of the ship was not seriously damaged. The pumping out of Lebanon's tanks in Escanaba harbor, today were to clear them for inspection.

The ship has a crew of 33 men.

Patrol Boats At Work In Bay Area

The Michigan Conservation Department's patrol boats No. 1 and No. 4 today were at Escanaba harbor and will work the Green Bay area between now and the reopening of the whitefish season Dec. 10.

Capt. C. J. Allers of patrol boat No. 1 said the boats had come here yesterday from Sturgeon Bay and that no commercial fishing violations had been discovered by them in this area.

The department's patrol boats are part of the state's "sea going" force for enforcement of the fishing regulations.

Revision Of Precincts In City Needed Before Next Election

NOW that the 1950 elections are over the time has come to completely revise the city's election precincts to avoid overcrowding at the polls in the future.

The city now has a total of 8381 registered voters in eight precincts. This total will be reduced to approximately 8,000 when the files are reexamined and the names of deceased persons and persons who have moved away are removed. The average then will be about 1,000 registered voters per precinct. The state's recommendation is 650 voters per precinct, although admittedly this is not a hard and fast rule and it is a standard that is probably lower than necessary.

The largest precinct in the city is the seventh, which is in North Escanaba. As of Oct. 12 this year, there were 1424 registered voters in that precinct. The total now is probably in excess of 1500 as there were 400 voters who registered between Oct. 12 and October 19, the last day for registration prior to the Nov. 7 election.

Other extremely large precincts are the sixth, with approximately 1200 voters and the eighth with nearly 1200. These three precincts contain roughly half of the eligible voters in the city and they are in areas where the population growth is most pronounced. In any redistricting, they should be below the average because they are certain to increase in future years. Most of the other precincts are in areas where little growth is possible.

The smallest precinct in terms of registered voters is the third, which has 734 on the rolls as of October 12.

The campaigns being conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce here with the support of other service and civic organizations means that the percentage of voters will increase in the future. That increases the necessity of modernizing the city's election precincts so that the voting load can be better distributed and handled more efficiently.

City Clerk George Harvey has already made preliminary surveys of the prob-

Smear Campaign Tactics Are Wrong

FEW voters will be able to recall a political campaign worse than 1950 for name-calling, mud-slinging and outright misrepresentation.

To be sure, the electorate has long since grown used to the exaggerations of standard American campaign oratory. If people didn't discount them heavily, they often couldn't conscientiously vote for anybody at all.

Yet this year's spectacle of candidates for high office hurling mud by the bucketful and lacerating each other's character is a sorry one indeed. It's hard to see how voters could wholly discount all the things that have been said.

The caliber of campaigning has been particularly bad in New York, Ohio, Oklahoma and to some extent, California. Candidates have dubbed each other thieves, liars, fakers, grafters, unmitigated liars and Communists.

In Pennsylvania, one nominee for high office was chided by his opponent for saying something publicly about him that he knew wasn't true. The candidate replied: "If I say something and you don't deny it, that means it's true."

What better measure could you ask of the low level to which political morals have fallen?

You can't help wondering what has led politicians to conclude that these shrill cries of wolf are effective campaign tactics. The voters certainly have seldom shown any love for this kind of politicking. In New York, for instance, a newspaper quoted one citizen as being so disgusted by the scolding that he was tempted to write his own name on the ballot.

Perhaps these extreme charges reflect an inner tension that runs through all of us in these troubled times. Critical issues beget violent feelings, and people in such a mood will pick up any weapon they can find.

This is a moment for sober attention to vital questions. There is wide room for legitimate differences of opinion among honest, sincere men. Some of these differences ought to crystallize as firm party policies between which voters can fairly choose.

To deflect voters' minds into countless irrelevant sidepaths, as was done in the 1950 campaign, is to do them and the country a vast disservice. Democracy is on trial in many quarters of the world. It can't indefinitely stand being discredited here in its American stronghold—as it was discredited this year.

Football Dress

By Gordon Martin

When you plan to see some football on a very wintry day, and your wife would go along to see the gridiron warriors play, you advise her that the stadium is always bitter cold, and she surely ought to wear some woolen garments manifold. So you're really flabbergasted when it's time for you to go, for she's dressed herself in all her smartest togs from head to toe.

Once again you say you doubt that she should sport her fancy clothes, but instead should be prepared for chilling winds and freezing snows. But she'd have you know that what is most important to a dame, isn't just the chance to go and see a silly football game. It's the welcome opportunity to wear her very best, and she'll thank you not to give advice on how she should be dressed.

So you say okay and see the fray in winter's icy blast, and she soon complains she's frozen and she doesn't think she'll last. And you leave before it's over, for a cold she's surely got, with the sniffles and a headache and a yen for something hot. But next year 'twill be forgotten when for football games you start, and again she will insist that she must wear her clothing smart

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—When you eat a chicken neck from a capon which has been fed on a certain kind of fattening hormone, you run the risk of becoming sterile. This is one of the findings of the house committee to investigate the use of chemicals in food products, which has been quietly probing the effect of all sorts of chemicals now artificially injected into our food.

In the case of chicken necks, it was revealed that some poultry farmers use a hormone called stilbesterol to fatten chickens in a hurry. When injected in the neck, this hormone makes an old rooster not only fat but tender.

The effect on the human being, if he eats the neck, however, can induce sterility. Congressman Arthur Miller of Nebraska, himself a doctor told the committee that the milk growers of Illinois had fed chicken and turkey heads from poultry so treated to their milk, only to have them become sterile.

As a result, Canada prohibits the use of stilbesterol pellets in feeding poultry. Dr. Franklin Churchling, chairman of the chemical committee of the American Public Health association told the congressmen.

—GIVES DOGS FITS—

The committee, headed by able James J. Delaney, New York Democrat, has heard testimony from some of the nation's top chemists, all of whom urge the plugging of present loopholes in the Pure Food and Drug Act to prevent the use of harmful chemicals.

Their testimony revealed that while some chemicals are harmless, others are so poisonous that they produce ulcers, and even disintegrate the human teeth.

One example of a dangerous food ingredient is agene, or nitrogen trichloride, a chemical used to age flour. Although used for more than 30 years, it was not until 3 years ago that an English scientist proved that agene-treated bread produced epileptic fits in dogs. In recent months, the use of this chemical has been discontinued but not until after millions of people had eaten it.

The committee has developed a long list of dangerous chemicals—many of them consumed daily. The list includes:

1. Mineral Oil—used in salad dressings and on popcorn as a substitute for nutritious fats was found to interfere with the absorption of oil-soluble vitamins and generally upset the human digestive system.

2. Monochloroacetic Acid—used as a preservative for wines and a number of food products. Its use in an orange soft drink recently caused numerous illnesses.

3. Dulcin—An artificial sweetener, used as a sugar substitute by diabetics and recently discovered to be toxic.

Under our present Pure Food and Drug laws, the government is not permitted to take action against the use of chemicals until after the food has been on the market; then only after protracted investigation and hearings. As a result, according to the scientists testifying before Congress, the American public has become a nation of experimental guinea pigs.

Congressman Delaney now proposes to have these chemicals tested before their use, not afterward.

Industry Requests Controls—Charles Wilson of General Electric and Henry Ford II read the riot act to Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and Stuart Symington on high prices of raw materials at the recent mobilization meeting at Sea Island, Ga. They wanted to know when the government was going to do something about high prices. It was shortly after this that Secretary Sawyer came out emphatically against voluntary controls.

His Son Tortured—U. S. Ambassador David Bruce in Paris has complained vigorously to the French government about French Defense Minister Jules Moch. Bruce told French Premier Rene Pleven at a secret conference that the U. S. A. believes Moch's anti-German attitude is threatening to wreck all plans for defending Europe against communism; that Moch is being unnecessarily tough about Germany because his son was tortured to death by the Nazi Gestapo during the war. Premier Pleven promised to get Moch to soften his opposition. (Many Americans think Moch is right.)

PRONUNCIATION CLINIC

Most modern dictionaries give full sanction to the first syllable accent for the noun—indeed, it is the first choice of the American College Dictionary, Kenyon and Knott's Pronouncing Dictionary, and Grosset and Dunlap's Words: The New Dictionary. It is the second choice of Webster's New International, Webster's New Collegiate, Funk and Wagnall's New College Standard, and others.

This column, therefore, recommends the following pronunciations:

For the verb, allied, ally, ally, accent the second syllable: uh-LY, uh-LIED, uh-LY-ing.

For the adjective, allied, accent the second syllable: uh-LIED.

For the noun, ally, allies, accent the first syllable: AL-eye, AL-eyes.

This accent shift follows a pattern that occurs all through the English language wherein the noun receives the first-syllable accent, and the verb the second-syllable accent. Examples:

Noun	Verb
con'tract	con-tract'
con'duct	con-duct'
reb'el	re-bel'
ob'ject	ob-ject'
per'mit	per-mit'

Q. Will you please discuss the pronunciation that seldom occurs in American English. The Standard American pronunciation is: MAWR-fee-uses.

From Morphous, incidentally, is derived the word morphine which entered English from the Greek (morphin) through the French.

Thanksgiving Turkey Lower In Price This Year, Record Crop

(By The Associated Press)

Retail prices of several foods, particularly meat items, turned upward this week. But turkey eased a few cents a pound in most places and appeared likely to go down a little more as stores prepared for big-volume buying in the next few days before Thanksgiving.

Supplies of the traditional feast bird are abundant, backed by a record crop of around 44,500,000 turkeys this year. That's 2,500,000 more than last year and almost 31 per cent over the crop of just ten years ago.

Prices this week averaged around four cents a pound below last year's pre-Thanksgiving day levels. A spokesman for a leading nationwide food store chain said many turkey growers apparently held back peak shipments recently on rumors that heavy government buying might push prices higher. That buying failed to develop and now the holiday birds are coming to market in a big way, he said, so prices should at least hold steady and might raise a trifle more.

More Meat, More Tender
The Agriculture department reported that turkeys are better than ever this year because of improvements in breeding.

"Modern turkeys come both smaller and larger than their ancestors," the department said. "But regardless of size, today's turkey has more meat in relation to bone, and that meat is whiter, tender and more compact."

Many storekeepers across the nation will be featuring turkeys ranging from as small as 5½ pounds, for small ovens, up to as much as 30 pounds—for those big family reunions and church suppers.

Cranberries to accompany the turkey on Thanksgiving day menus are plentiful, too—941,000 barrels this year, the second-largest crop on record.

Price changes in other meats this week were mostly upward, with beef, pork and lamb items rising two to as much as 13 cents a pound in many marketing centers. Even lightweight chickens, which had been declining in the past couple of weeks, were two to six cents a pound higher in most places.

Many stores trimmed prices of top grade eggs, however, by two to five cents a pound. And at least one major store chain reduced its brands of bag-packed coffee by two cents a pound, citing a recent downturn in green coffee quotations.

On the produce shelves, tomatoes, good quality bunch carrots, snap and lima beans, peppers and radishes were a little higher. Celery, brussels sprouts, cabbage, western apples, fresh corn and Florida oranges averaged a shade lower.

Opposed to Controls
Ralph S. Trigg, who is food administrator under the defense production act of 1950, said this week that he has abundant supplies of most agricultural commodities—enough to take care of present needs without resorting to price ceilings and other controls.

Speaking for the Agriculture department's production and marketing administration, which he heads, Trigg said: "We believe firmly that controls should never be used unless they are absolutely necessary—that they should never be used except as a last resort."

Retail food prices have climbed about 1.6 per cent since mid-June, before the Korean war began, the bureau of Labor Statistics reported on the basis of a survey of 50 food items in eight cities.

At the end of October, the prices were 20.1 per cent of the 1935-39 average, or more than double. The survey also showed that during the last two weeks of October, prices eased about 0.4 per cent, with fresh fruits and vegetables, meats, poultry, coffee and sugar down slightly, and eggs, dairy products, fish, canned and dried fruits and vegetables somewhat higher.

Demands Of War Harsh, Treason Means Death

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The other day AP correspondent Bill Shinn, a Korean, reported the mass execution by the South Korean army of 20 people convicted of collaboration with the enemy. It was a graphic and moving story about the shooting of 10 men and 4 women as they crouched in their common grave.

Arthur Frederick, editor of the Daily Hampshire Gazette, of Northampton, Mass., writes me that some of his readers have registered strong objections against such punishment. They think imprisonment is more suitable for a nation like America, or South Korea, to inflict. Mr. Frederick asks for my view.

Well, I'm going to start by saying that I don't believe in capital punishment in peacetime. Furthermore I don't believe in war, excepting for defense.

British Soldiers Shot

However, until human nature has been molded into the spirit of the sermon on the mount we shall have wars. They mean wholesale killing, and the exigencies of such conflict always have been held to demand the death penalty for traitors and spies. Collaboration with the enemy may bring disaster to the criminal's home army. Here is an example of the demands war makes:

I was with the British army on the Somme, in France, in that terrible spring of 1918 when the Germans all but broke through and ended World War I. That was the time when Field Marshal Haig, British Commander in Chief, issued his dramatic order of the day, calling for a fight to the death "with our backs to the wall."

The Germans were coming through so fast that British G.I.'s, at times didn't know where their front lines were. In the midst of that death and confusion German soldiers, wearing British uniforms, were infiltrating the shattered lines with devastating results.

So the order went out that any British soldier who got separated from his unit, and couldn't explain instantly why he wasn't with it, was to be shot forthwith as a possible German. British officers used their pistols on many such individuals, and undoubtedly more than a few were British Tom.ies who had the bad luck to get lost.

That was tough—but it was a tough situation. The security of the British army was at stake, and that army was defending its homeland and the homelands of its allies.

Of course that incident isn't a parallel to the Korean affair. I relate it to emphasize that the demands of war are harsh.

More Than Punishment
The penalties exacted on war criminals are more than punishment. They are calculated to be deterrents to crimes by others. To illustrate again:

Back in World War I some of the farmers in Flanders used the arms of their picturesque windmills as semaphores to give messages to German warplanes overhead. When a farmer was caught at this game he wasn't sent to prison. He was stood up against his windmill and shot.

That was a warning to others. There is no use talking about humanizing war. It can't be done. War is a barbaric business at best and I'm afraid we must admit that those who engage in it have to employ extreme measures at times.

So far as concerns the Korean executions in question, we know that American troops wouldn't have dealt with the situation in such a manner. However, it must be remembered that the ways of the orient are not the ways of the west.

But east or west, the penalty for wartime treachery is death.

So They Say

The time has come to be realistic. We have tried to practice the golden rule. We have tried by persuasion to lead other countries into a peaceful way of life. Now we must act.—George N. Craig, national commander of the American Legion.

I'm an incident deflector. My job is to anticipate an incident before the mud hits the wallpaper.—Kemp Niver, Hollywood body-guard.

The best years of my life lie ahead of me.—Pfc. Robert Mullen, who lost both legs in the Korean fighting.

The world is a safer place to be in than it was three months ago.—Winston Churchill.

Husbands are getting more and more hard to please.—Mrs. June Byers, Ohio entry in Mrs. America contest.

The American heritage of freedom is in danger from two sources. It is being assailed by Communists, Socialists, and their sympathizers. It is being attacked from within by the indifference of the American people.—Ohio Republican congressional candidate George Bender.

The time is past for our Secretary of State to shake hands with the representative of Stalin. If there is to be any appeasement let the initiative be made by Communist Stalin.—Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R., Mass.)

I'm not afraid of the job of managing. But I'm afraid of following in the footsteps of the man who went before me.—Jimmy Dykes, upon replacing Connie Mack as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

If the United States does not correct the wrongs and injustices done to the red men, the Huel sovereign nation shall be forced to go before the United Nations.—Hopi tribal leaders, in a letter to President Truman.

Good Evening ...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

FOR MANY REASONS—School authorities recognize that spring trout fishing, autumn potato harvest and hunting seasons are often reasons given for students to absent themselves from classes.

They also recognize that the law requires all children of school age attend school during the term—and that as school officials they cannot excuse the children from attendance.

Parents with the welfare of their child at heart will hesitate requesting a leave of absence from study for Junior, who may already be only one jump ahead of failure in his school work. But it is better to have the request of the parents on file before Junior is released than to have Junior receive disciplinary action for playing hooky.

IN CASE OF ILLNESS—In some rural communities school virtually closes when potato digging time comes around and the youngsters are called out to help in the harvest. If such work excuses were legal, then parents in business could keep their children out of school the year around—and child labor laws would become meaningless.

Illness is recognized as a legitimate reason for absence of the child from classes. But sometimes this too is abused by unthinking parents.

This parental attitude is illustrated in the story of the district school official who met a child of school age in a downtown store during school hours. The child was doing some shopping for the mother.

"Hello Johnny," said the school official, "why aren't you in school?"

"Well, you see," Johnny replied gravely, looking up from the shopping list, "I'm sick at home with tonsillitis!"

AT STAND STILL—Deer hunting season is infectious. With fathers and uncles and brothers all planning weeks in advance to go to hunting camp, it is a small wonder that boys of high school age do not catch the fever.

The extent of absenteeism in plant and office during the hunting season is indicated in the story of the official of a materials company who telephoned an Escanaba firm in connection with a matter of urgent business.

After asking for the president, vice president, general manager, treasurer and office manager and being told that they were not in, the materials supplier in Chicago shouted: "Well, where-in-hell did they go?"

Told by the stenographer that the management in its entirety was out hunting deer, the man at the other end of the line took a deep breath and made one more comment before hanging up.

"When they come back," he said gently, "just tell them I called to wish them luck."

NOT SO RUGGED—Apparently gone forever are the good old days when Michigan's governor left Lansing Nov. 10 to be on hand for the opening of the deer season. Governor Fred W. Green had a hunting lodge near Grand Marais, and Murray D. Van Wagoner used to visit the U. P. for the hunting.

But the present governor or governors is or are too busy for such pastimes. Williams and Kelly are more concerned about election results than deer tracks on a runway.

And after the Macomb county vote mixup oleo ballots were counted for governor, a friend telephoned to ask if we didn't think "Williams won by a pretty close margin?"

ANOTHER REASON—It is unfortunately true that many young hunters are careless with firearms—and that some of them are also the victims of hunting accidents.

Besides requiring children of school age to be in school, there is another state law that prohibits minors under 17 from hunting unless accompanied by parent or guardian.

And is it necessary for a youngster to be absent from school for hunting? There are always the weekends and the Thanksgiving vacation for students in hunting season.

Taft Appears Cautious After Election Triumph

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—Whether it's their new responsibility or just caution that comes when ambition burns brightly, the victorious Republicans are showing considerable restraint in the aftermath of their triumph.

CHILDS

On Taft's big moment when at least 150 newspaper correspondents came to hear the views of one who had obviously been elevated to the top of the political list.

Ordinarily, Taft speaks his mind with great freedom. In the past this has sometimes got him into trouble.

But under the sudden glow of the Klieg light and against the whirring of the newsreel cameras the senator from Ohio was far more reticent than is his custom. There were questions on which he elected to reserve judgment.

On Western Europe he said that some military assistance was necessary, but he wanted to have the entire European program reviewed before coming to any decision.

Taxpayer Usually Loses
If this could mean a realistic review of both military and economic assistance programs, rather than merely a bridging of the old meat ax, it would be genuinely useful. In conspicuous instances the economic program has been administered with too little regard for recovery and too much regard for the feelings of those who want to preserve their position of power. The American taxpayer has, in other words, got the short end of it while the big European taxpayer has too often got all the breaks.

Taft rejected the tag of isolationist. Senator-Elect Everett Dirksen in an earlier interview did likewise even though he campaigned on a Chicago Tribune platform. Dirksen referred to himself as a "moderationist," whatever that may mean.

For 1952, and that's what those lights and cameras were focused on, this matter of attitudes is likely to be of the first importance. The voters in recent years have shown a strong distaste for the take-it-for-granted candidate.

In 1948 President Truman was in the role of humble yet friendly petitioner asking his neighbors for their votes. Governor Thomas E. Dewey, his opponent, appeared to many who saw him to take the attitude that he was doing them a favor by campaigning at all. Unquestionably his seemingly lofty demeanor was resented.

Truman Was Cocky
This year it was Truman who appeared supremely, almost disdainfully, self-confident. It is generally believed that his one and only campaign speech—in St. Louis—did more harm than good. To many in the television audience he seemed to be strutting his stuff with unbearable complacency, considering the state of the world and America's uncertain position in that world.

It was definitely not the moment to boast of America's prosperity. Nor can you fool people in season and out about the origins of that prosperity. It took World War II to end mass unemployment and raise purchasing power to boomtime levels. Moreover, in the present boom there are some uneasy parallels with the late 'twenties which should curb any tendency to self-congratulation.

All this raises a question about the political stance to be taken by the president in coming months. Self-righteousness will not be enough. Nor will the old appeals to pride and prejudice suffice.

On their side of the fence responsible Republicans are likely to find their work cut out for them in restraining the wild-eyed irresponsibles in their own party. Irresponsibility unlimited can produce a strong reaction of disgust and resentment.

Faked Photographs
In this connection responsible Republicans should be feeling twinges of conscience about how some of their new colleagues got elected. We have heard in the past a lot about money frauds in election campaigns. But there was another kind of fraud practiced this year, shockingly illustrated by the kind of faked photographs circulated by the Republicans in Maryland purporting to show Senator Millard Tydings in conversation with Earl Browder, former Communist party head.

The American voter in the last election reacted against the arrogance of men like John L. Lewis, who threatened to call a strike in any mine which Senator Taft visited. That is the sense of fair play—the fundamental common sense—of the average American. It should be an object lesson for the party long out of power which once again believes that the light at the end of the tunnel is the gleam of ultimate victory.

W-C Denied Move To Delay Hearing

Application of Wisconsin Central Airlines to delay until May 1 a hearing before the Civil Aeronautics Board on renewal of its certificate for airline service to Wisconsin, the U. P., points in Minnesota and Chicago, has been denied and the hearing will be held shortly after Jan. 1 as scheduled.

Wisconsin Central sought to delay the hearing on grounds it was purchasing 21-passenger DC-3 equipment to replace its present 9-passenger Lockheed Electra airplanes. WC contended it could make out a better case on traffic potential warranting a renewal if it had six months of the DC-3 equipment in operation.

The CAB ruled that the size and type of equipment utilized by a carrier is only one of many factors to be considered in determining renewal of the airline's temporary certificate of public convenience and necessity; that if WC puts the DC-3s in operation, the results will be available to the CAB before a final determination of the renewal is made.

The case is of interest to Escanaba and the U. P. because also pending before the CAB is application of Nationwide Airlines for certification on a direct route between the U. P. and Detroit. The Nationwide application is also to be heard early in January.

Memphis Preacher Helps Needy Without Fanfare

By ROBERT C. RUARK

MEMPHIS—In an age where such a solid effort toward mass good-doing is epidemic, and the peepul are beat over the head with good works of occasional political motivation.

RUARK

There is a man who does not traffic in wholesome uplift. He is a preacher here named Leo L. Pysker. Dr. Pysker is a physician with some six degrees. He is also a talented musician. He is an ex-lieutenant colonel in the air force. As pastor of the Central Christian church he preaches to his flock on Sunday, but the rest of the week he devotes to kindness on his own time.

Some time back Dr. Pysker, a dark man with a rakish moustache, ran an advertisement in one of the local papers. It said: "Do you need a friend? Are you in trouble? Call No. 7-2346."

Most city editors are skeptical of such ads, which generally turn out to be a front for a phony, and the paper sent a reporter to run down Dr. Pysker. He proved to be no phony at all, but a man with a sincere desire to help individuals, individually. Since then his record of personal aid and counsel has made a lively running story.

Prevented Suicide

One man was on the verge of suicide when he spotted the preacher's ad (which the preacher pays for out of his own pocket) and called Dr. Pysker. Pysker talked the man out of killing himself.

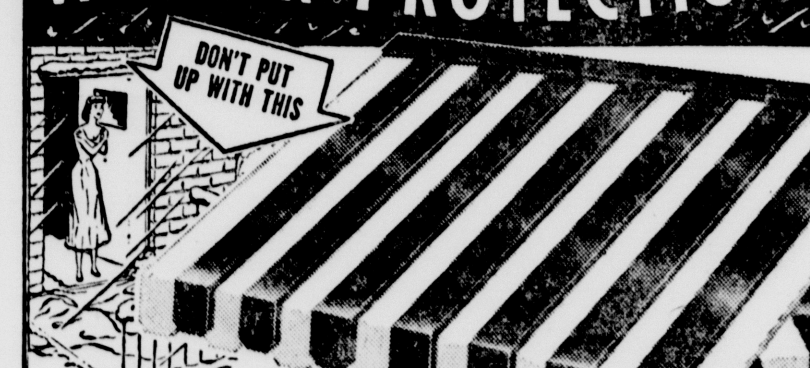

His assistances to frantic women who have become pregnant out of wedlock has been consistent. He has prevented evictions by paying rent for desperate people who are down on their luck, and has made innumerable small loans to strangers. He has become, in Memphis, a small deity among his flock. Not long ago he sold his Cadillac to swell his personal charity funds, and his churchgoers have set up a car pool for him.

I do not know particularly why Dr. Pysker should strike me suddenly as nearly unique, except that it seems to me that today we are progressively losing sight of individuals and tending to deal more and more in terms of the herd. Most of the dunning letters I get for charities and uplifts and such make the agency king. Sweet charity gets buried in statistics, paraphernalia, media, and public relations.

No Fancy Letterheads

Then, all of a sudden, here is a man who is interested in the problems of the individual. With no fanfare, no begging letters, no distinguished list of sponsors, no fancy letterhead, no "cause," he quietly sets about helping people who need help, on his own time and with his money. It sounds almost fishy, as if the man was setting himself up for some sort of kill, but he is vouched for by hardheaded newsmen who make a business of spotting phonies.

Then it hits you that what makes Dr. Pysker's operation seemingly odd is that it is founded on the first simple precepts of religion—love thy neighbor and do unto others as you would have them do unto you. Comfort the sick, help the poor, and cast no stones at the unfortunate. Have we gotten so far away from simplicity of kindness that these tenets suddenly seem peculiar when one man practices them without an ax to grind?

I am not much of a psalm singer or a practicing religious, but this fellow brings me up sharp. I am afraid I had gotten to regard charity as rather an unpleasant thing, administered by a board of regents and supplied by hard-faced case-workers who see only statistics instead of people.

I guess I forgot that before we had all the agencies and apparatuses to look after the unfortunate; to send missions to the heathen and uplift everybody, everywhere, that a certain sort of simple highly individualized "charity" was administered personally by a man named Jesus Christ.

There was no salary attached to the office of British Prime Minister until 1937, and the holder usually combined with it some other appointment, which carried a salary.

HAPPY HUNTING

CHECKING. Night before the big day, the hunters clean their rifles, making sure the barrels are free of obstructions.

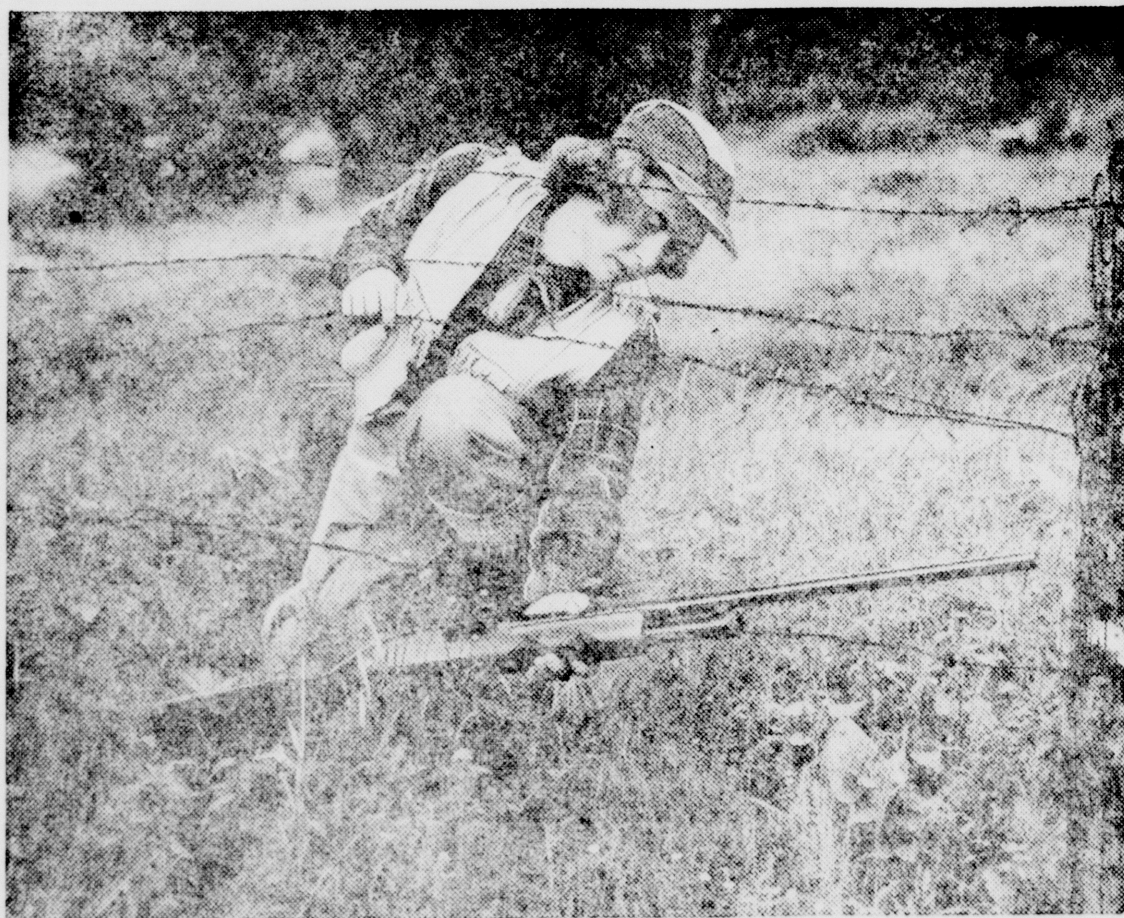

Some 12,000,000 licensed hunters will be in the field when the 1950 seasons opens. They will hunt for deer, bear, squirrels, ducks, grouse, pheasant, quail, turkey; in some of the western states, elk and antelope.

A safety campaign by state game commissions and sporting arms manufacturers is helping reduce accidents in the field. This year, tens of thousands of posters have been distributed throughout the nation cautioning hunters to practice safety rules. Though the National Safety council estimates there were 600 deaths due to hunting last year, the number has been decreasing. In six of the nation's largest game states, a 10-year survey shows that because of the safety program, fatalities were cut in half.

Here, Warren Page, Ruby Mitchell and teen-ager, Bob Newman, shown on a New York state pheasant hunt, demonstrate some safety rules.

HOW TO CARRY guns on road. Hunters walk abreast; muzzles point in safe direction.

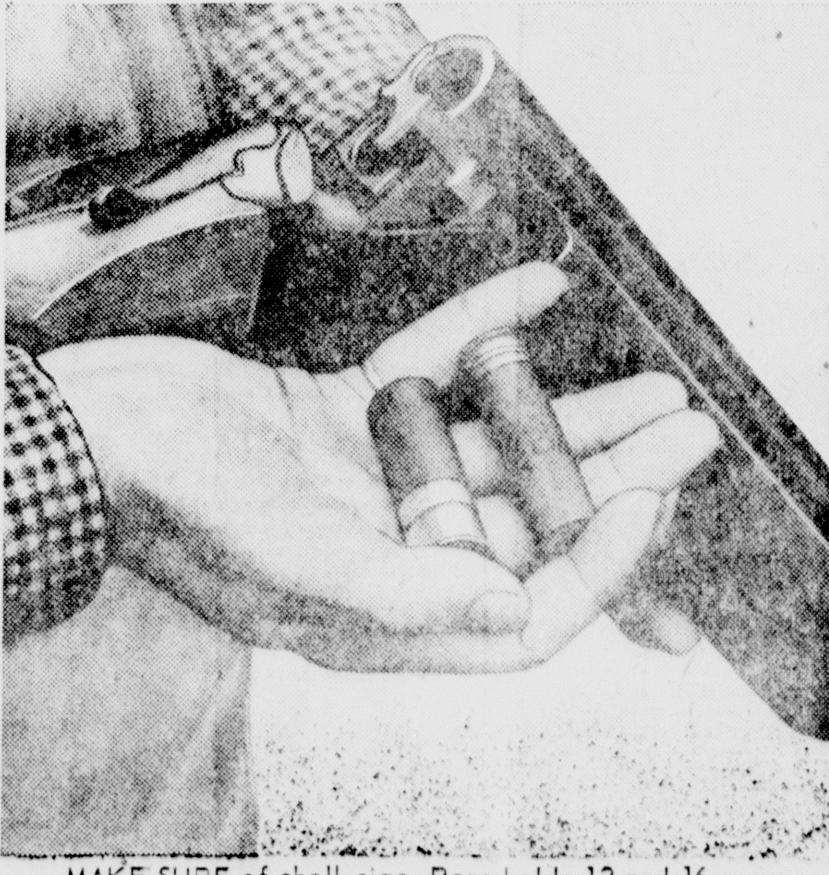

THROUGH FENCE. Ruby lays gun on other side, climbs through cautiously.

CAUTION in the field. Hunters walk abreast crossing the meadow. Guns are pointed away from their partners and the hard-running bird dog.

QUARRY SIGHTED. Hunters make sure that no one is in the line of fire.

MAKE SURE of shell size. Page holds 12 and 16 gauge shotgun shells, checks carefully before loading.

BAGGED! While hunters admire pheasant, muzzles are pointed away from each other.

Delightful Travel
Lecture Given
At Club Meeting

A sharp contrast between the gay colorful life of Portugal and the sad, miserable existence of Spain was drawn by Margaret Freck Brown, pianist and lecturer, in her address to the Escanaba Woman's club Thursday afternoon at Westminster church.

In a charming and gracious manner Mrs. Brown painted a vivid word picture of the many little towns of the Portuguese Riviera, describing the profusion of flowers, gay little shops, casinos and beaches along the sea shore, and accenting her speech by delightful piano selections by native composers.

Beauty of Portugal

Her travelogue included ancient castles, one of the world's oldest universities and a Sacred Forest which was planted by monks in the Middle Ages and protected by a Papal Bull.

She spoke of the natural beauty of this land which was a world power in the 15th and 16th centuries and still has the third largest colonial empire. In Portugal, she said, work still is performed in a slow, laborious fashion. Much of the economy of the country is based on the land and its products, olives, cork and wine from the famous vineyards around Oporto. To describe this city which has been called the City of Granite because of its many gray stone buildings, Mrs. Brown played "Poem and Prose" which was composed by a native of Oporto.

Crossing the border into Spain, Mrs. Brown continued, one realizes immediately that here is a country still crushed from the burden of long years of civil war and the oppression of dictatorship. The housing shortage is acute. Prices are high and money is scarce. Everything is broken down, ragged and unkempt. In Madrid the beautiful government buildings and the magnificent displays in the museums and cathedrals present a sorry contrast to the poverty and misery of the people. There is no freedom of worship or speech and no fine composers, artists or musicians left in Spain today. To illustrate this part of her talk Mrs. Brown played "Before the Virgin of Mercy" by Tarillo and concluded with a masterful rendition of "Catalonia" by Albeniz, a famous Spanish composer, now dead.

During the business meeting of the club it was announced that Mrs. E. H. Niederauer has been appointed to fill the office of second vice president to replace Mrs. Earl Frechette who has moved to Iron Mountain. Guests from Gladstone, Iron Mountain and Marinette were welcomed by the president.

Tea Follows Lecture

At the close of the lecture tea was served from an attractive table centered by an arrangement of fruit and tall tapers of a lovely chandelier color exactly matching that of the grapes, which highlighted the deep red and green shades of the centerpiece.

The hostess committee was Mrs. R. W. Haddock, chairman, Mrs. C. L. Harrison, Mrs. J. H. Jackson, Mrs. Oscar Kraus, Mrs. A. D. LaBranche, Mrs. J. A. Natilo, Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. G. E. Christie, Mrs. Scott Eagleson and Mrs. Tom Wilkinson.

Courtesy Counts
In Job-Hunting

Landing a job is going to be quite a bit more difficult for this year's college graduates than for those of the past few years, according to the Bureau of Labor statistics.

With that warning in mind, perhaps, some of the more brash young graduates are pulling all kinds of stunts to call attention to the talents and abilities they have to offer the business world.

According to a recent news story one young man from the University of Washington approaches each personnel manager with the bold statement: "I want your job." He claims it throws them for a loss for a minute, giving him time to launch into his self-selling act.

Another college graduate is trying to land a newspaper job by sending out headless match folders, bearing his picture, name, address and a few other pertinent facts.

Still another college student has erected a billboard proclaiming to the world that he is in the market for a job.

Sound Good—But Do They Work?
The variety of such stunts is almost endless. Yet in the account I read of these job-hunting tricks there was no mention that any one of them had landed a job for its creator.

Perhaps the best way, even today, for a young man to get the first real job of his career is to forget the tricks and the super-salesmanship and go after it in a respectful, dignified way.

The man who does the hiring probably isn't looking for a young man with a bag full of tricks who is a fast talker and brash enough to try to "throw the employer for a loss."

He is probably looking for a combination of brains, ability, earnestness and a degree of self-confidence that is tinged with enough humility to make the applicant seem respectful.

Even in 1950 a neatly-dressed young man appearing at an office in person with good manners and a respectful attitude will get more consideration from a prospective employer than a billboard or a match cover announcing that so-and-so is ready to make the world his oyster.

Hearing To Be At 9:30 A. M. Monday

William J. Sheahan, Schoolcraft county prosecuting attorney, yesterday morning ordered and inquest to be held in the afternoon at 9:30 a. m. on the death of James Edward Strasser, 14, of Cooks.

The prosecutor signed a petition directing Edward V. Jackson, local coroner, to preside at the inquest. The other county coroner, George E. Morton, whose funeral home has the Strasser funeral, was reported to be at his camp yesterday morning and could not be contacted by the prosecutor's office.

The Cooks school boy was killed shortly after 7 o'clock Wednesday morning by his father, William Strasser, sr., who mistook the boy for a deer.

25 Players Are Drafted From Minors

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Major league's baseball bosses talked in terms of a lot of dollars yesterday.

They decided to turn $975,000 of revenue from 1950 world series radio and television rights into a fund for payments of annuity and life insurance for ball players.

And they paid out $239,500 for 25 players they drafted from minor leagues.

The radio-television money situation came up at a joint meeting of the American and National leagues. It took less than three minutes to decide what to do with that money.

Player representatives Freddie Hutchinson of Detroit and Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals had already agreed the money should go into the baseball central fund.

From that is paid a big share of the pension-insurance fund premiums. Walter Mulberry, secretary of baseball and secretary of the fund, says it now takes between $500,000 and $600,000 a year from the central fund to keep it going.

25 Players Drafted
The draft found 25 players being picked off the minor league hostlers at a cost of $239,500.

Twenty-two of those 25 came from class AAA clubs which are involved in a mixup because the Pacific coast league wants to be exempt from the draft. One proposal still hanging fire is that the draft price be hiked for clubs in those leagues.

Thirteen of the 16 clubs drafted one or more men. The only ones which passed the whole thing were the St. Louis Cardinals, New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers.

An immediate blast of criticism came from top Pacific coast league officials over the major league's draft of seven coast players.

Williams Won't Shirk Training, Says O'Neill

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Ted Williams, temperamental outfielder of the Boston Red Sox, will play in spring training games as long as he is able, Steve O'Neill, his manager, declared here today.

Ted Williams

Williams, told newsmen in Miami yesterday he might not play in any exhibition games and would "be in complete command of my training next spring."

O'Neill, in Cincinnati for the annual baseball draft, said he did not anticipate any trouble with the American league slugger star, but said:

"Williams will play in spring training games as long as he is 100 per cent physically fit. I do not anticipate any trouble with him, however. He will want to play. He always does."

Then O'Neill added:

"Ruth and Cobb and all the rest of them played in spring training and Ted isn't bigger than baseball."

Williams said he played in 37 of the 38 exhibition contests the Red Sox had last season.

"If I do not feel right, I won't play in any next year," he said.

land, who is spearheading the fight to make triple-A coast clubs draft-exempt, scanned the list of those drafted and burst out:

"It's Robbery"

"That's just what we're trying to escape. Here we've just lost seven more players for $70,000 x x x seven top players—yet the majors will turn around and give some high school kid $70,000 just to sign up. What's fair about that?"

The owner of the Oakland Oaks, Clarence Laws, also sizzled when he found George Metkovich, his top-notch outfielder, had been drafted by Pittsburgh for $10,000. Laws termed it "out and out robbery" and recalled that he shelved out $25,000 for Metkovich just last winter.

Steve Souchock, a 31-year-old former New York Yankee, will be one of three players battling for the Detroit Tigers' first baseman's job next spring.

Souchock was drafted by the Tigers.

The right-handed hitter smacked 30 homers and batted .288 for Sacramento in the Pacific coast league last season. He drove in 97 runs in 174 games.

Souchock, who also played with the Chicago White Sox, will compete with Don Kolloway and Dick Kryhoski for the 1951 first base job when spring training opens.

He was one of seven Pacific coast league players drafted by the majors for $10,000 each.

The drama at Champaign, Ill., should be well worth the money to the expected sellout crowd of 71,119.

Ohio State is the Big Ten leader, and voted No. 1 in this week's Associated Press poll. Illinois was eighth-ranked in the AP poll and currently is second in the Big Ten race.

Ohio State is rated one touch-down better than the Illini but chances for an upset are considered good. The Illini, like the Buckeyes, have dropped only one game this year and their solid defense is considered a real test for the powerful Ohio attack.

Offstage, this week is Wisconsin, probable nominee for the Rose bowl game with the Pacific coast conference winner should Illinois lose tomorrow. The Badgers play a non-conference game at Pennsylvania, where they figure to get rough treatment. But if Ohio State lives up to its billing and beats Illinois, the Badgers will be in line for the Rose bowl.

Not enough dough . . . The Rams want Sugar, Orange or Cotton or nothing in the bowl line.

Gum Again

John Davis, Indiana defensive halfback, lost a front tooth in a scrimmage the other day . . . John was rather unhappy about the first break in his line of shining white choppers . . . "What made it worse was the guy who did it," Davis moaned. "He looked over the line on the next play and said: 'You now have 31. Would you like to try for 30?'"

Sportspourri

Dick Bunting, North Carolina's all-around halfback, also is a Phi Beta Kappa student. So it isn't surprising that they call him the "key man" on defense . . . Jim Byrne, 17-year-old St. John's U. freshman, has won five straight three-mile cross country races this fall. Byrnes won the course, hey?

Conrad Hinz, who has booted 27 out of 30 conversions, including a string of 21, for Kalamazoo college this fall, hails from South Bend, Ind., home of Notre Dame.

Almost 200 former Packer players dating back to the first team in 1919 have been invited to attend the Nov. 26 game as guests of the club. They will be honored at a banquet Saturday night, and following that the Packer Alumni association will hold a smoker. The ex-Packers will sit in a group behind the Packer bench at the game and will be introduced to the crowd.

It will be the first appearance of the home club in City stadium since Oct. 8, and the home fans are eager to see Gene Ronzani's Cinderella boys in action again.

Before the Forty-Niner game, however, the Packers have a rather pleasant assignment in Detroit, this coming weekend. They face their second contest with the Lions, the team that opened the season here by running all over the Packer 45 to 7. Since that time Ronzani's boys have picked up quite a bit of pro league experience and have risen to the heights on several occasions, and there is little doubt but that the team will be keyed for revenge this coming Sunday.

Egad, gentle readers. You will observe in the forecast for Nov. 18 that Army is picked to defeat Stanford by two touchdowns.

A couple of weeks ago these two teams would have met on almost even terms.

Now Stanford faces the West Pointers after bruising battles with UCLA, Washington and Southern California.

The Army platoons come up to the mark refreshed by practically two weeks' rest, having met New Mexico in the kind of game that should be ruled off the schedule.

Har-rumph! It comes to my attention that Army is selecting its opponents with a fine-tooth comb.

New Mexico virtually has replaced Notre Dame on its program. Careful breathers with Colgate, Penn State and Harvard are inserted advantageously.

Of the service teams, Navy has taken, on the tougher schedule. We're going to have more to say about this before the Army-Navy game, Dec. 2. Watch for our illuminating comment.

Now read the forecast for this weekend. The only startling upset is Illinois to down Ohio State. And Jove. That's startling enough!

Perkins Plays Rock Tonight

Beats Bark River In Opener

PERKINS — Off on the right foot with an impressive 46-29 victory over Bark River-Harris here Wednesday night, the Perkins cagers travel to Rock tonight to meet their friendly rivals of long standing.

Coach Tom Gerovac's boys took a one point lead in the first quarter as all of them were hitting the basket. They stretched it to nine points at half time and added 10 points in the third quarter to only three for Bark River to put the game away.

All five of Perkins' starters scored at least four points, with Center Jim Vallier pacing the crew with 15.

Dale Erickson, Bark River guard, led his Broncos, scoring 10 points.

In a preliminary, the Perkins reserves tripped the Bark River seconds, 24-18.

Wings Win; Trades Make John Adams Look Sharp

(By The Associated Press)

Gaye Stewart is making crafty John Adams, manager, of the Detroit Red Wings, look pretty good as a master dealer in hockey players.

The speedy left-winger from Fort William, Ont., obtained in a National hockey league five-for-four player deal with the Chicago Blackhaws, scored two goals last night as the Red Wings won, 5-1.

Cordie Howe, George Gee and Jim McFadden slammed in the other.

It was the Wings' eighth straight game without a loss and their second victory over Chicago in as many meetings this season. That gives Adams a pretty strong argument that he got the better of the deal.

The victory, recorded before 15,488 fans—largest Chicago weeknight crowd of the season—also brought the Wings closer to the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs, who were tripped, 5-2, by the Montreal Canadiens.

Detroit now has 19 points, two back of the Leafs.

In Montreal, the Canadiens strengthened their fourth-place position by handing the Leafs their worst defeat of the season.

The Canadiens, who hadn't been able to crash the victory column since the Leafs tacked a double defeat on them on successive nights early this month, rained 40 shots on Turk Broda in the Toronto nets. The Leafs fired only 18 at goalie Gerry McNeil.

Floyd Curry scored twice for Montreal. Calum Mackay, Leo Gravelle and Billy Reay counted the others. Ted Sloan and Fleming Mackell scored for the Leafs.

Fifteen penalties were called, including a major to Maurice Richard of the Canadiens for wall-poping Bill Juzda with his stick and a 10-minute misconduct for Mackell for sassing Referee Bill Chadwick.

Likes New Hockey But Not Coaching

LINDSAY, Ont. — (AP) — Eddie Shore, one of hockey's all-time greats, said today he likes hockey the way they play it now, but he doesn't think much of the coaching.

"Some believe the old game had more pretty passing plays and better body checking," Shore said today.

"I think today's game is better because the puck travels faster. However, the plays have not kept up with the puck. Few coaches correct players' mistakes or find out what they do wrong."

Shore, owner-manager of the Springfield Indians in the American hockey league and a veteran defenseman of 19 years in pro hockey, said he thinks coaches have misconstrued the word "streamlining."

"The game today is all go, go, and players are bending over in attempts to gain more speed." However, he said, this has the effect of slowing down some players.

GETS STARTING ROLE

DETROIT — (AP) — Halfback Bob Hoernschemeyer, former Indiana star, is slated to draw his first starting assignment in a month when the Detroit Lions collide with the Green Bay Packers Sunday in Briggs stadium.

Hoernschemeyer suffered a shoulder dislocation against San Francisco on the coast Oct. 22.

Navy Looks For Easier Grid Foes

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — (AP) — It's official now. Navy is out looking for an easier football schedule.

This became public last night when Ohio State announced it was cancelling its home-and-home series with the Naval academy—at Navy's request—for 1952 and 1953.

And don't be too surprised if a couple of other nationally ranking teams are scratched off future Navy schedules.

It is reported reliably that Navy is trying to get off the hook with Rice, powerhouse of the southwest, booked for the next two years. It seems a verbal agreement is the only strand holding the link together, and that was made by Captain Tom Hamilton, who is now athletic director at Pitt.

A break in the 24-year-old series with Notre Dame isn't out of the question. Although earlier this week both schools denied a published report future games would be called off, the scheduling between the two remains on a year-to-year basis.

Capt. Howard Caldwell, athletic director at the academy, was quite frank about it.

"I think they have pictured it very well," he said when informed Ohio State had released the information that Navy had asked to be dropped.

The Ohio State announcement said the cancellation "came about due to a change in the athletic policy at the Naval academy and its attempt to lighten and moderate its schedules."

New Congress To Be Headache For Democrats

South And GOP Will Seek Recognition

WASHINGTON — (AP) — New headaches loomed for House administration leaders as Republicans and Southern Democrats let the word get around that they want better committee assignments.

And, since last week's elections reduced the Democratic majority, these two groups may get just what they want when the new Congress convenes in January.

There may be a tough fight, too, to restore to the rules committee the virtual stranglehold it once held on legislation.

Coalition Is Menace

Republicans and Southern Democrats have dominated the rules committee in recent years and have formed an effective coalition to block much of President Truman's legislative program.

The coalition's power was sapped somewhat at the start of the present Congress when Democrats changed the rules and made it possible for chairmen of other committees to get their bills to a House vote after 21 days of rules committee delay.

Prior to that, it took a long time and 218 signatures on a discharge petition to force to the floor a bill pigeonholed by the rules committee. It was seldom done.

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts told newsmen he will demand better committee representation for Republicans and would vote for restoration of the rules committee's former powers.

Better Break Demanded

While he will not lead a drive for the rules change, Martin said, someone will start it and it will have his support.

Martin said he expects Democratic leaders to give better committee representation to the strengthened Republican minority.

The law says every House member must have at least one committee assignment. In the present Congress there were 172 Republicans, but in the new one there will be 199.

That means, Martin explained, that Republicans must have 27 more committee assignments.

The Democrats dropped 27 seats in the election, so they will not be troubled by new members wanting choice committee assignments.

But Southern Democrats have privately started demands for more committee posts for so-called conservative southerners.

They want a better break on such important committees as ways and means, labor, and banking and currency.

Many of the radio engineers of today started out as owners of amateur radio stations.

Snowstorm Cuts Off Houghton; 4 Hunters Slain

Francis Thill, 33, of Fairport, Mich., was wounded in Delta county by a shotgun charge accidentally discharged by his hunting partner, Joseph Sheddore, 20, of Escanaba. The two were hunting rabbits near Fayette and Thill was slightly hurt by two shotgun pellets.

As of last night, hunters returning from the Upper Peninsula via Straits of Mackinac ferries had brought across 90 deer and three bears, to Nov. 16 a year ago they had brought only 63 across.

State conservation officers reported that in the Lower Peninsula 27 deer had been killed in the Plainwell district, 11 in Livingston county, and one near Inlay City.

MSC Harriers Will Be Busy

EAST LANSING — (AP) — Michigan State college's cross-country team goes all out for sectional and national honors this coming week.

Coach Karl Schladerman's Harriers journey first to Chicago to participate in the Big Ten championships Saturday morning.

Then they fly to New York to be ready for the IC4A run there Monday. They're rated strong contenders for both titles.

The Big Ten meet will be the first that the Spartans have participated in since being made a member over a year ago.

The team title, however, looms as a toss up among Wisconsin, the defending champion, Michigan, Indiana and Michigan State.

The biggest battle may come for individual honors, with Michigan's Don McEwen, Purdue's Bob Rodibaugh, Ohio State's Len Truex and Michigan State's Warren Druetzler and Don Makielski all fighting it out.

Harriers making the trip are Druetzler, Makielski, Jim Keppford, Dick Roberts, Mickey Walter, Jerry Zerbe, and Wayne Scutt.

Herb Cook will replace Scutt in the IC4A run.

Peninsula Telephone Exchanges Picketed

DETROIT — (AP) — The CIO Communications Workers picketed six outstate exchanges of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. today as they continued hit-and-run strikes to support contract demands.

Lansing, Marquette, Midland, Clare, Ishpeming and Negaunee were scenes of telephone picketing.

Except for Lansing, which has a dial system, local calls at the picketed exchanges are handled by operators. Supervisory personnel manned switchboards to handle emergency calls.

The CWA picketed 55 exchanges over the state yesterday. Most of these, including 30 in Detroit, were approximately back to normal today.

Train Kills Twins At Plainwell, Mich.

PLAINWELL, Mich. — (AP) — Teenage twin brothers were killed last night when their car was struck by a locomotive. Another brother and one other boy were injured critically.

Dead are Burt and Bruce Norman, 18. Injured were Elwyn Norman, 16, their brother, and Richard Robar, 14, of Neelys. They were taken to Kalamazoo Bronson hospital.

The auto was struck by a Pennsylvania locomotive at a crossing north of Plainwell.

Gussie Loses Again At Yost Fieldhouse

ANN ARBOR — (AP) — A crowd of 4,500 saw Gertrude (Gussie) Moran again last night.

The girl whose lace undergarments became the talk of England and the world lost her 12th professional engagement to Pauline Betz Addie, 4-4, in Yost fieldhouse. Gussie has won three times and they've tied twice.

Red China Assured U. S. Doesn't Intend To Enter Manchuria

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The state department radio beamed into Communist China today President Truman's assurance that the United States has no intention of invading Manchuria and will help protect China's interests along the Korean border.

Department officials, deeply concerned over a possibility that war will spread beyond Korea, privately expressed hope that Red China's leaders would consider the President's statement, issued at a news conference yesterday.

Mr. Truman said a professed belief that the U. N. forces in Korea would carry the war into China was the "pretext" on which the Chinese Communists intervened in Korea.

Insofar as the Chinese actually do have such fears, the President's statement was designed to reassure them in the hope that they might then withdraw their forces and permit an early peace in Korea.

Normally such a declaration would be transmitted to another government through diplomatic channels. But the United States does not recognize the Red regime at Peiping. Officials said this government was relying on "Voice of America" broadcasts and on regular international channels of news to reach the Peiping authorities.

The President's statement came a day after Secretary of State Acheson and Assistant Secretary Dean Rusk had offered similar assurances. They also warned that the situation growing out of Chinese intervention in Korea is extremely dangerous.

Acheson and Rusk made it clear that this government does not know for certain what caused the Chinese Communists to act as they have or what objectives they seek. If they are trying simply to protect their own territory and the Yalu river hydro-electric power installations or other so-called legitimate interests, the U. S. stands ready to negotiate a settlement through the United Nations.

On the other hand, if their purpose is to prevent a final U. N. victory in Korea, grave danger of a more general war is seen here.

Wires Downed By Gale In Peninsula

Several upstate communities were isolated when high winds blew down telephone, telegraph and power lines. Among those cut off from communication were Houghton, Munising, Calumet, Ontonagon and Lake Linden.

At Marquette high waves inundated a Lake Superior shore road and washed out a railroad south of there.

Ice and snow made most Upper Peninsula roads hazardous, particularly on the Keweenaw peninsula, where eight inches of snow fell and was drifted by winds yesterday.

Poles Broken

The snow reached south through Sault Ste. Marie to Alpena and Traverse City.

Power, telephone and telegraph lines between Marquette and Houghton were knocked out last night. Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said it had 100 poles down between Houghton and Ontonagon alone. Western Union reported it was unable to raise its Houghton operator and a radio operated there by state police and conservation officers went off the air.

Long distance telephone lines connecting Marquette and Grand Rapids were broken 32 miles south of Marquette.

Bob Hope Sues Life; Denies Joke Stealing

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Bob Hope, who generally doesn't bridle easily, says he's been offended — $2,010,000 worth.

The comedian filed suit for that amount against Life magazine and radio columnist John Crosby yesterday, claiming they libeled him by asserting he stole Fred Allen's jokes.

Hope said the Nov. 6 issue of the magazine contained Crosby's article, "Seven Deadly Sins of the Air," and that it implied he was guilty of plagiarism.

Plagiarism, said Hope's complaint, is a practice which the entertainment industry considers dishonest, unethical and reprehensible.

Mayor Of Wooster, O. Branded Embezzler; Kills Self In Office

WOOSTER, O. — (AP) — The mayor of Wooster shot and killed himself in his office a few hours after the county prosecutor accused him of misusing public and hospital funds, police reported today.

Mayor Francis H. Hillen, 46, fired one bullet through his temple last night. The coroner ruled the death a suicide.

Hillen, a Republican, had been mayor since 1947.

Prosecutor Jack Critchfield said he filed charges yesterday that Hillen had misused the city funds. Critchfield estimated the shortage at about $3,600.

Young Father Knives Family At Winter, Wis.

WINTER, Wis. — (AP) — A young father attacked his family with a knife today, killing his two-year-old son and wounding his wife and daughter.

The father, Stanley Crocker, between 25 and 30 years old, then telephoned the sheriff and submitted to arrest. Authorities gave no reason for the attack.

Crocker's wife and four-year-old daughter were hospitalized, the girl in serious condition with her throat slashed.

Red China Rejects India's Protest On Invasion Of Tibet

NEW DELHI, India — (AP) — Communist China has brusquely rejected a second Indian protest at the military invasion of Tibet, an official government spokesman said today.

Peiping's reply to an Indian note calling the use of force against peaceful Tibetans an unwarranted act further endangering world peace was received today.

Red China declared India had no right to "interfere" in what the Communists consider an internal Chinese affair.

The answer placed before Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's government was a tough decision—whether to firmly support the Tibetan neighbor's charges of Red Chinese aggression now before the United Nations, or try to sidestep the issue in an effort to cling to a neutral position in East-West world politics.

Baby-Sitter Fined For Swatter Slaps

HUDSON, Mich. — (AP) — Baby-sitter Betty Dazey, 23, was fined $10 yesterday for beating her charge with a fly swatter.

She pleaded guilty to an assault charge when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Bert Winn.

Miss Dazey told Hudson police chief Arthur Kerr that 3 1/2-year-old Rex Murphy, was "naughty" while she was sitting with him Nov. 10.

She admitted striking him with a fly swatter but said she didn't know she was injuring the boy.

When Rex's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Murphy, returned they found him covered with welts and bruises.

Justice Winn fined her $10 plus $4.30 costs.

Boy Kind To Old Man Now Richer By $1,000

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Twelve-year-old Sammy Yampolsky was $1,000 richer today because he was kind to an old and despondent man.

The will of Herman Bush, 62-year-old Russian immigrant, was filed for probate yesterday and it awarded Sammy $1,000 from the estate valued "in excess of $5,000."

Bush died of an over-dose of sleeping pills Monday. He left a note directing that none of his relatives be notified and that no funeral services be held. He said Sammy had been kind to him.

Sammy's father, Joseph, a salesman, has been ill and unemployed for some time. The boy said he will give the money to his father.

Soviet Union Says U. S. Is Aggressor In North Korea

waiting is the most realistic and useful one.

Peace Moves First

It was learned that not even the U. S. will press for an immediate vote on the resolution calling on the Chinese to withdraw from Korea and promising to respect their frontiers.

The U. S. feels, informed sources said, that every possible recourse must be used to get China out of the Korean war peacefully since the alternative might easily touch off World War III.

Moreover, the direct threat of a Soviet veto of security council action against the Chinese Reds makes it even more urgent, from a practical standpoint, to try alternate means of influencing Peiping.

Although the assembly now has the power to take military action against an aggressor when the security council is hamstrung, no one is apparently willing to take the irreversible step of sending the problem there before every other possibility is thoroughly explored.

A Chinese Communist delegation is now enroute here from Peiping but is not expected to arrive until late next week. Whether the final decision can be postponed until then is problematical.

Pilots Find Body Of Woman Drowned Off Charleston, S. C.

CHARLESTON, S. C. — (AP) — The civil air patrol reported today one of its pilots had found the body of Mrs. Frederick H. Ecker, who drowned Wednesday off Seabrook beach. The body was found near the south end of Edisto beach.

The body, discovered by pilot Jack Southworth, was about 15 miles south of the area where the 48-year-old woman fell into the water. Her 83-year-old husband is board chairman of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Mrs. Ecker and three friends were fishing from a small boat when it capsized. The CAP said a search would continue for the body of James Merrill Herd, Jr., 39-year-old New York theatrical producer.

Coast guardsmen yesterday found the party's small fishing boat which had been swamped by heavy seas and overturned Wednesday.

Liquor Sales Gain Million In October

LANSING — (AP) — The state liquor control commission reported today it had sold nearly $1,000,000 more liquors in October than it did a year ago.

October sales reached $10,620,700, compared with $9,707,189 a year ago.

For the first 10 months of the year, the commission sold $98,860,511 worth of liquor, compared with $93,268,912 in the same period of 1949.

On the basis of case sales, the commission said its sales in October increased 6.56 per cent over last year, while its inventory was down 9.39 per cent.

Whiskey sales rose 7.87 per cent, while the whiskey inventory dropped 11.33 per cent.

Michigan Draft Quota 1,890 For January

LANSING — (AP) — Michigan has been ordered to send 1,890 men to the armed services during January, the State Selective Service system reported today.

Lt. Col. Arthur A. Holmes, deputy state director, said a breakdown of the draft call by counties would not be available until late November or early December.

Chicago Woman Will Share In Estate

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — A recommended settlement of the long contested $17,000,000 Garrett estate would give the inheritance to a Greenville, Miss., banker and a Chicago woman.

A board appointed by orphans court to sift the 26,000 claimants from all over the world, yesterday recommended the estate, after taxes, be awarded to three cousins, all of them dead. It is the survivors of the cousins who may end up with the estate.

The recommendation of the group headed by Clinton A. Sowers was made exactly 20 years to the day after the death of Mrs. Henrietta Garrett.</
